

Recollecting Mother's Kindness

Being born as a rich family's daughter as a result of virtues and good fortune, Having faith and devotion to the Three Jewels, you upheld the ten virtues.

Showing loving respect towards your parents, loving friendliness towards relatives and friends and loving kindness towards your children, you could endure various hardships.

Greeting neighboring folk with kind, loving smiles, you were a lay Upasika who possessed — kindheartedness. As my mother, you were joyful and brave.

Precisely twelve years have already passed since the day you departed from this world; whatever feelings that arise while recollecting your kindnesses, I intend to write them down on this clean white sheet of paper.

When I was a child drifting in the world, you gave me the satin waist belt rope that when fastened every day on my body without parting, your kind face has repeatedly appeared in my heart.

Having been meditating in the secluded place of Lapchi for more than eight years, day and night without parting from this fastened waist belt rope, I have been frequently renouncing the futility of samsara and generating loving kindness by regarding all sentient beings as my kind parents.

With the attainment achieved through all the practices of the most profound generation and completion methods, I vow to repay the kindness of this life's parents first, followed by all parent sentient beings boundless as space.

As a seventy-five-year-old man, milk-fed up to this moment and thin, if the kindness that could be described in forms, the highest mountain and Though you were a lay person, Possessing utmost sincerity,

“If one is kind-hearted, all virtuously attained.” I firmly life after life you will be

May you receive the from Lord Chenrezig Dharma Protector

from infancy when I was when the hair is already white had been granted by my mother it would be higher than deeper than the deepest sea.

you were indeed a practitioner. you enjoyed benefiting others.

the paths and bhūmis will be believe in my heart that reborn in the higher realms.

supreme care and guidance who is the sole in the Land of Snow.

To the Precious Guru
The Recollection of the Deceased Mother